Matthieu Millet, CEO and Founder of Remade Group: « These new colors have been extremely well received by visitors in Barcelona. Our teams have developed a unique and exceptional know-how to offer, each year, new life to original iPhones. This demonstrates our ability to process each component of the iPhone with great mastery and extreme precision. We prove, once again, that the circular economy can be addressed in a creative and innovative way. A refurbished iPhone that holds a promise of performance, quality and safety in a unique color in the world has good arguments to change consumption patterns. »
